

Funding will come from the Environment Fund

Technical assistance agreement signed in degraded areas

Venezuela will receive service and technical support from FAO

The Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (MINEC), through the National Reforestation Company (CONARE) and the National Park Institute (INPARQUES), signed a service and technical support agreement with the United Nations Organization for the Food and Agriculture (FAO) as part of the Sustainable Forest Management and Forest Conservation in the Ecosocial Perspective project.

The Minister of Popular Power for Ecosocialism, Josué Lorca, signed the agreement on behalf of the Venezuelan organizations, while the representative of the organization in the country, Alexis Bonte, formalized the agreement for the FAO.

Through the agreement, the international organization will provide the institutions with technical assistance, so that the restoration of degraded areas in National Parks and natural monuments can be achieved.

Conare and Inparques will implement forest restoration models, through the production of plants and the establishment of forest plantations in areas affected by degradation and deforestation processes.

The resources that will be used in the project will come from the Global Environment Facility, with which the production of plants and the establishment of forest plantations will be consolidated, to strengthen the Forest Engine, and thus continue in the construction of the Ecosocialist Homeland.

In coordination with the regional government

They study strategies for the sanitation of the Pavia landfill in Barquisimeto

Regarding the national deployment that the Sectoral Vice Presidency of Public Works and Services has undertaken, the Minister of Popular Power for Ecosocialism, Josué Lorca, inspected the Pavia landfill, together with the mayor of the Iribarren municipality of Barquisimeto, Luis Jonás Reyes.

During the tour, Minister Lorca pointed out that they are studying strategies for the sanitation of the area, and the recovery of the site's machinery.

Likewise, he pointed out that crews will be formed to continue with the cleaning and weeding work, together with the Government, which will ensure the beautification of the Lara state spaces.

For the stabilization of public services

In a joint meeting between the Lara State Governor's Office and the Sectoral Vice Presidency of Public Works and Services, proposals were studied in order to stabilize and improve services in the region.

Among the commitments of the Vice President of Works and Minister of Popular Power for Electric Energy, Néstor Reverol, of the Minister of Attention to Water, Rodolfo Marco Torres, Public Works, Raúl Paredes, and Ecosocialism, Josué Lorca, is the repair of major leaks of the Alto Tocuyo adduction system, in order to increase the flow of liters per second.

In addition, the incorporation of four new deep water wells to the Lara state water system was agreed, in order to guarantee the supply of drinking water in the entity.

National deployment of the Sectoral Vice Presidency seeks to offer quality services

For the prevention of Covid-19

Inparques is getting ready to activate the Access Traffic Light Application at its facilities

The National Parks Institute (INPARQUES), refines details for the activation of the Access Traffic Light Application in National and recreational Parks, as part of the Bolivarian Government's strategies in the prevention and control of Covid-19.

The prevention control scheme began during the month of October in the country's restaurants. The technological tool has been created with the aim of moving towards the new normal of commercial life and public spaces.

The system will work as follows:

- Red light: Alert that the person has registered a positive CRP in the last 15 days through the Patria System and may be a transmitter of the disease.
- Yellow light: The person does not have a positive CRP record in the last 15 days, but has not been vaccinated against Covid-19.
- Green light: Has the vaccination scheme against the disease and does not present a positive CRP.

During the meeting, strategies that will be developed regarding the holiday season were also raised.

After sightings of specimens in the areas

Raise awareness about coexistence with crocodiles in Carenero

A total of 15 people participated in the workshop

As part of the commitments of the Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (MINEC), with the clubs of the population of Carenero, in the state of Miranda, a talk was held that was called "Coexistence between people and crocodiles", referring to the sighting of alligators from the coast in the marinas of the region.

The induction was held at the facilities of the Carenero Yatch Club, addressed to the center's staff and was conducted by the MINEC biologist, Ricardo Babarro, who indicated that the conversation was about the peculiarities of the coastal caiman, a species that has been seen in the place.

"About 15 people received information about the characteristics of the animal, its biology, its conservation and above all that people understand that said animal does not represent an imminent danger to the safety of the club's staff, but that it is basically an animal that is seeking refuge.", He assured.

During the activity, the population was invited to report through the 0800Ambiente (0800 262-436-83), the sighting of this or any other specimen.

Permanent training in environmental material

Cinema forum projected "Before the Flood"

In the continuation of the series of cinema forums called "Climate change, peoples, planet and life", the Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (MINEC), screened for the entire public, in the vicinity of the headquarters of the Caracas institution, the documentary "Before the flood."

The audiovisual piece produced by National Geographic Channel, presents as moderator the actor and environmental activist Leonardo DiCaprio, designated in 2016 messenger of the United Nations Organization (UN) against climate change, who travels several countries and interviews different personalities of the scientific and political world, in order to know the seriousness of the problem that Planet Earth is going through.

Leonardo DiCaprio meets with experts, scientists and world leaders to discuss climate change and consequences

In this sense, the general director of Training for Ecosocialism of MINEC, Jesús Méndez, promoter of the activity, recalled that recently the MINEC, all its attached entities and volunteers, participated in a national day of reforestation as a way to combat disorder climate.

"This action is part of the re-impetus of the training and awareness-raising processes that we carry out from the Ministry, and has to do with the incorporation of other actors of our people in general so that they become aware, and can also appreciate and analyze the central elements that today our Pachamama, Mother Earth is going through", he indicated.

Regarding the documentary, Méndez said that "Before the Flood" is a work that "allows us to analyze from a critical point of view, the situation our planet is going through around the effects of climate change derived from the capitalist, predatory economic model of our Mother Earth".

"We reiterate the invitation so that every Tuesday at 2 pm, be part of the construction of the Ecosocialist Homeland", concluded Méndez.

Film review

During the film, the actor and environmental activist, Leonardo DiCaprio meets with experts, scientists and world leaders to discuss the changes and consequences of climate change on the planet and how it affects not only the ecosystem, but its inhabitants, especially to the less fortunate, such as poor communities that live near coastal cities, as well as animals that have lost their habitat due to the deforestation of large companies to manufacture products for human consumption.

Jesús Méndez: We remain in the constant training and awareness process of our workers

Before the Flood, it is an opportunity to think and reflect with family, friends, school or university colleagues; It is a shock to realize that this cannot wait, that we need to change our habits today, that we demand changes today, that we all do what we have to do today.

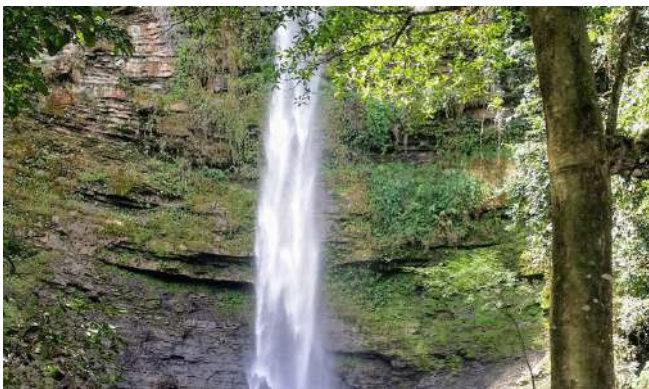

GETTING TO KNOW VENEZUELA

A total of 12 villages inhabit the area

El Guache National Park: A meeting and protected land

El Guache National Park is located in the foothills of the Andes Mountains, in the Lara and Portuguesa states. It includes the source of several important rivers that drain into the Río Portuguesa basin and feed the agricultural economy of the region.

It was declared a National Park under Decree No. 2,347 on June 5, 1992, with the aim of protecting the upper basins of the Guache, Morador, Ospino, Toco and Are rivers, and to safeguard the life of the fauna that lives in the place.

It has an approximate area of 12,500 hectares

It is a protected area under the administration and management of the National Parks Institute (INPARQUES), an entity attached to the Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (MINEC).

The vegetation of this recreational space is heavily wooded and cloud forest, with temperatures ranging between 19° C and 22° C due to its altitude that varies from 800 to 1,700 meters above sea level (masl).

It has an approximate area of 12,500 hectares and has the San Miguel, El Encanto and El Veral waterfalls, and the wells of the Palmerito River, places that are visited by seasonal nature and hiking lovers.

In its territory, the Andean bear, a species threatened with extinction, has occasionally been detected, as well as the araguato monkey, the cachicamo, the laver fox, the honey bear, among others. There is a presence of birds such as the guacharaca, the stone crest helmeted, the mountain bluebird and different species of reptiles such as the mapanare and the tragavenado boa constrictor.

The climate of El Guache National Park contributes to the conservation of the flora and fauna of the place, this natural space is also known for its contribution in reducing soil erosion.

The park can be accessed by land through a network of dirt roads that depart from the towns of La Aparición and La Estación.

These highways connect the lower areas of the Ospino municipality with the rural villages of Moroturo, Santa Rosa de Guache, Hacha, Santa Ana, Sanarito, La Laguna, San Bartolo, Santa Bárbara, Palmarito, Jobillal and Guache de Garabote; all located within the park, these roads cross the park to the villages of El Rechazo, Platanal, Bucaritas, Miracuy, Fila Rica and Nuezalito de Guache in Lara state.

Within the park there are a large number of human settlements

It was declared a National Park under Decree No. 2,347 on June 5, 1992

that were present before the creation of the protected area. A census of human populations carried out by Inparques in 2000, determined the presence of about twelve towns within the Park, in the area that is located in the Ospino municipality of the Portuguesa state.

The most populated sectors are Sanarito, El Cielito and Jobillal, each one has several schools, religious services, electricity lines and a large extension of cultivated land.

The main economic activity of the inhabitants is coffee growing, however, other agricultural items are planted on a small scale, mainly for family consumption.

Up to date with Nicolás

@NicolásMaduro

10/25/2021

With joy, enthusiasm and responsibility, our children and young people return to face-to-face classes, always respecting biosecurity measures. Let's preserve health to build the new normal. Together is the thing!

@NicolásMaduro

10/26/2021

A brave man left us, a leader, teacher and tireless fighter who resisted the most cruel tortures of the Fourth Republic, to defend the dignity of the people. David Nieves, my great brother and friend, with deep sadness I bid you farewell today, confirming: Hasta la Victoria Siempre!

@NicolásMaduro

10/27/2021

Support for entrepreneurs is essential in the new economic stage that is opening for Venezuela. Necessary for the growth, diversification and development of the real economy, guaranteeing stability and meeting the needs of the Venezuelan people.

@MINECOFICIALVE

@MIECOSOCIALISMO