A total of 44 National Parks are suitable for the enjoyment of ecotourists

Easter 2023

Ecotourists will be able to enjoy 44 National Parks, 65 Recreational Parks and 501 suitable beaches

A total of 44 National Parks, which house various ecosystems, 65 Recreational Parks with structures for recreation and healthy enjoyment, as well as 501 suitable beaches are available in the country for ecotourists who will travel this Easter 2023.

National Parks house multiple species of plants and animals, in habitats of biological, educational and landscape interest. In these areas, recreational, tourist and educational activities are allowed, as well as scientific research, they are under the administration and care of the National Parks Institute (Inparques).

With 7.5 million hectares, the Caura National Park is positioned as the largest tropical forest park in Venezuela, the continent and the planet, it is located between the states of Amazonas and Bolívar.

National and recreational parks are very important areas for research, offer a place for environmental education and are a natural representation of the systems that support life on the planet, with a minimum level of human intervention.

Environmental Rapid Reaction Unit

Unified Command against Forest Fires installed in Portuguesa, Nueva Esparta and Zulia

The objective is to prevent and fight forest fires that have occurred in the country

In what constituted a civic-military-police deployment, in the Plaza Hugo Chávez of the Mariño municipality in the states of Portuguesa and Nueva Esparta, the installation of the Unified Command against Forest Fires and the activation of the Rapid Reaction Unit were carried out in the insular entity Environmental (URRA).

The conformation achieves the articulation of the military forces of the insular region, institutional, police and Popular Power, for the approach in the prevention, combat and extinction of forest fires that occur in the neo-Spartan territory.

The act was led by the director of the Ecosocialist Territorial Unit (UTEC) Nueva Esparta of the Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (Minec), Jennyffer Gil, representatives of the Bolivarian National Armed Forces (FANB) through the Integral Defense Zone (ZODI), Environmental Guard of the Bolivarian National Guard (GNB) and Bolivarian National Police (PNB).

While in the Zulian entity, the installation was carried out in the Burro Negro Recreational Park, located between the municipalities of Lagunillas and Valmore Rodríguez, an activity led by the director of the Ecosocialist Territorial Unit (UTEC) Zulia, Ubaldo Fernández, together with representatives of the Power Popular and Ecosocialist Management in the entity.

In the three entities, the conformation was carried out in response to the instructions of the head of the Minec, Josué Lorca and in synchrony with the guidelines of President Nicolás Maduro Moros, in compliance with the Fifth Historical Objective of the Plan for the Homeland 2019-2025.

Venezuela attended a course on Global Forest Resources Assessment

A representation from Venezuela participated in the Workshop of the Program for the Assessment of Global Forest Resources 2025 in Latin America (FRA), which is held in Panama City.

The meeting is promoted by the program of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), with the aim of providing attendees with the necessary technical support for the preparation of national reports for FRA 2025, through the use of the online platform developed for such purposes. The Venezuelan delegation is led by the member of the Forestry Cabinet and Executive Director of the Latin American Forestry Institute (IFLA), Fidel Ferrer.

International Zero Waste Day

Executed day of awareness and collection of usable material in Caricuao

As part of the International Zero Waste Day, which is celebrated for the first time in 2023, the People's Power Minister for Ecosocialism, Josué Lorca, participated in a day to raise awareness and collect usable material in the Caricuao ecological parish, in the southwest From the capital.

The objective was to guide the organized communities in the route of collecting usable materials, and thus quantify and generate indicators of recycling rates, to promote the application of the 3Rs (Reduce, Recycle and Refuse).

The points with the greatest impact were the Los Telares sector, and the "Chuquisaca" Communal Council of said parish.

Minister Lorca was accompanied by the General Director of Garbage Use, Verónica Mujica and the director of the Caricuao Karibe Agroecological Training Center, Johan de Sousa.

Lorca said that "the benefit of this journey and all the plastic collection that is carried out is sold and then the community is compensated with gardens, parks, and if there is a commitment from the population and they meet a lot during a year, it can be estimated for 2024 to buy a tanker truck and deliver it to the community".

"There must be commitment and seriousness to achieve these objectives. Count on us on behalf of the Ministry to start, since you are the pilot project of the country. At the Caricuao Karibe Training School we are going to install the first Ecosocialist Industrial Park", he stated.

Together with People's Power

Second Day of Pesca tu Plástico takes place in Tucacas

As a result of inter-institutional work, the closing of the second day of the "¡Pesca tu Plástico!" program was held in Tucacas, Falcón state, under the slogan "We are sustainable fishing".

The ministries of Fisheries and Aquaculture, and of Ecosocialism, together with the People's Power, participate in the development of said plan, in the context of the International Zero Waste Day.

Fish your Plastic! It contemplates the mission of promoting the collection and classification of plastics located in marine, coastal, river, lake or reservoir areas, so as to guarantee clean environments.

With Fish your Plastic! The operation of the circular economy is made possible by creating healthy ecosystems and having greater fishing, tourism and recreation productivity.

The program reaches more than 80 vessels deployed by the Councils of Fishermen, Fishermen and Fish Farmers (Conppa) of Tucacas", in different areas of the Morrocoy National Park.

During the activity, the importance of collecting, classifying, recycling and using the various types of plastic in the manufacture of new instruments or useful tools for other functions in plastic wood, such as boats, hulls and buoys, among others, as well as sanitation, was highlighted. environment with the arrival of this Holy Week 2023.

In this regard, the People's Power Minister for Ecosocialism, Josué Lorca, highlighted the total willingness and support of the institution he directs for this activity, which aims to expand and be an example in the world.

He also indicated that this would be the beginning of a structure for the proposal and formation of the First Plastic Recycling School in the country.

"We are collecting plastic as usable material and at the same time we are cleaning all our beaches, as part of the Safe and Happy Easter 2023, which will begin in the next few days," he said.

He added that the structure of the Tucacas Conppa is a miracle because "the women and men that make up the group are very organized, united and show a high degree of ecological awareness."

"This has been done on different beaches in other states and ecological awareness, organization and the understanding that the collection of plastic waste guarantees us healthy ecosystems is always lacking," he said.

He added that the Conppa throughout Venezuela "the more than 1,000 throughout the country are highly organized and aware of environmental issues; They are clear that by guaranteeing waste-free beaches and seas, we can have better food for our people."

The collection and classification of plastics located in marine, coastal areas, rivers, lakes or reservoirs is promoted

"Race for Earth" will take place next Sunday, April 23

To commemorate International Mother Earth Day, the Ministry of Popular Power for Ecosocialism (Minec) will develop the first family sports activity called "Race for the Earth."

Earth Day has been celebrated for almost 50 years, with the purpose of generating greater awareness in humanity about the importance of the interdependence relationship that human beings and all living beings have with the natural elements and components that they surround us and are part of our planet earth.

The United Nations Organization (UN) gave international character to the date in 2009, when the General Assembly created by Resolution 63/278, the International Day of Mother Earth and designated April 22 as the date for its celebration.

This recognition from the UN has the objective of creating awareness in the population and achieving a balance between the economic, social and environmental needs of present and future generations, thus reaffirming the concept of "Sustainable Development".

The "Race for the Earth" will be carried out in order to join the efforts to call attention to the protection of the planet, the conservation of our renewable resources and will be directed to all those who wish to share, join the message and do a good job for Mother Earth.

The sporting event will take place on April 23, 2023, at the Generalísimo Francisco de Miranda Recreational Park, starting at 7 in the morning with a 5 kilometer (km) walk and a 10 km run.

The categories in which you can participate in male and female are:
